FOI_5024

The following information was requested on 9 April 2021:

I will try asking this again as you seem to have not been responding to me previously seeking this answer. You only responded regarding the same question to ECT (which was £0) but not in respect to these mental health medications. Would you please reveal the answer please? I believe it is very important to public health and mental health treatment for us to know these answers.

In relation to the Freedom of Information request on the clinical negligence legal fees bill paid out by the NHS which also says "Estimates published last year put the total cost of outstanding compensation claims at £83bn." in this BBC article: <https://www.bbc.co.uk/news/health-51180944>

What percentage (and cost) of that figure has been paid out to people that have incurred injuries or death from the following mental health medications: Antidepressants, Antipsychotics, Mood Stabilizers, Benzodiazepines and ADHD medications?

Our Response

Although NHS Resolution may hold some information relating to claims such as these, due to the way claims are recorded on our claims database, we will not be able to identify such specific cases. It might be helpful to explain that when claims are notified to NHS Resolution they are categorised against pre-defined cause, injury and speciality codes, unfortunately Antidepressants, Antipsychotics, Mood Stabilizers, Benzodiazepines and ADHD medications is not one of these. Therefore, while there may be information held in our records, we are not readily able to identify the relevant files by searching the database. To do so would involve a review of all cases to identify which ones relate to claims involving Antidepressants, Antipsychotics, Mood Stabilizers, Benzodiazepines and ADHD medications. NHS Resolution receives thousands of claims each year.

Therefore, we estimate that the cost of complying with the request in its entirety would exceed the 'appropriate limit'. Section 12(1) of the FOIA is a provision which allows a public authority to refuse to comply with a request for information where the cost of compliance is estimated to exceed a set limit (known as the 'appropriate limit'). The 'appropriate limit' for NHS Resolution is £450. This equates to 18 hours of work at the rate of £25 per hour set out in the 'Fees Regulations'.

We estimate that it would take on average 10 minutes to locate, retrieve and extract the requested information from an individual file. It may therefore be the case that we would be able to examine only 108 files within 18 hours.

In addition, given the complexity of clinical negligence claims and their litigation, it is possible for a single electronic or paper-based file to contain hundreds of documents in a variety of formats.

Please also note even if we were able to carry out a review of 108 random files we may not be able to provide you with the level of detail you require owing to Data Protection grounds.

We would need to suppress low numbers or any information that could possibly lead to the identification of claimants, patients or individuals where disclosure would breach the General Data Protection Regulation.

We do have the following codes: Community Mental Health Services (Specialty code)
Psychiatry/ Mental Health (Specialty code)
Medication Errors (Cause code)

We could provide you with high level data relating to the above codes and it could cover number of claims received in the relevant financial years; a breakdown by specialty; a breakdown by primary cause; numbers settled with associated costs; numbers with no damages paid and numbers currently open. Please let us know if you would be interested in this data. Please also let us know which time period you would like the data to cover.

If you would like to know how data is categorised in our Claims database please see the following link: Glossary

Further to our obligations to provide advice and assistance, you may find it helpful to review the work of the Getting It Right First Time team with whom NHS Resolution has been working with to undertake in-depth analysis of our claims data. They have produced a number of reports from analysing our claims data which has been shared following approval of the confidentiality advisory group to the use of confidential patient information for this purpose.

This concludes our response to your request.

If you are not satisfied with the service that you have received in response to your information request, it is open to you to make a complaint and request a formal review of our decisions. If you choose to do this, you should write to Tinku Mitra, Head of Corporate and Information Governance for NHS Resolution, within 28 days of your receipt of this reply. Reviews of decisions made in relation to information requests are carried out by a person who was not involved in the original decision-making about the request.

If you are not content with the outcome of your complaint, you may apply directly to the Information Commissioner for a review of the decision. Generally, the Information Commissioner will not make a decision unless you have exhausted the local complaints procedure. The address of the Information Commissioner's Office is:
