FOI_5910

The following information was requested on 30 March 2023:

(...) I have chosen to write an assignment on the incidence of missed scaphoid fractures and the long term outcomes.

If possible, I would like to know if you have any details over the last 10 years of the monetary cost of missed scaphoid compensation claims. I have found one paper from the NHS litigation team, but the monetary payouts aren't available on there.

If I could access this it would be very helpful; (...), and an e-copy would be preferable.

Our Response

We only hold claims data for England (our schemes only cover England), not the UK.

Although NHS Resolution may hold some information relating to claims such as what you have requested (England only claims), due to the way claims are recorded on our claims database, we will not be able to identify such specific cases. It might be helpful to explain that when claims are notified to NHS Resolution they are categorised against pre-defined cause, injury and specialty codes. Unfortunately, we do not have a code for missed scaphoid fractures. Therefore, while there may be information held in our records, we are not readily able to identify the relevant files by searching the database. To do so would involve a manual review of all cases to identify which ones relate to claims involving missed scaphoid fractures. NHS Resolution receives thousands of claims each year.

Therefore, we estimate that the cost of complying with the request in its entirety would exceed the 'appropriate limit'. Section 12(1) of the FOIA is a provision which allows a public authority to refuse to comply with a request for information where the cost of compliance is estimated to exceed a set limit (known as the 'appropriate limit'). The 'appropriate limit' for NHS Resolution is £450. This equates to 18 hours of work at the rate of £25 per hour set out in the 'Fees Regulations'.

We estimate that it would take on average 10 minutes to locate, retrieve and extract the requested information from an individual file. It may therefore be the case that we would be able to examine only 108 files within 18 hours.

In addition, given the complexity of clinical negligence claims and their litigation, it is possible for a single electronic or paper-based file to contain hundreds of documents in a variety of formats.

Please also note even if we were able to carry out a review of 108 random files we may not be able to provide you with the level of detail you require owing to Data Protection grounds.

We do have the following injury code: Fracture

We could provide you with high level data relating to the above injury code. The report could cover number of claims received for the above injury in the relevant financial years (e.g. 2021/22); a breakdown by primary cause; a breakdown by specialty; number of claims settled with associated costs; numbers with no damages paid and numbers currently open. Please let us know if you would be interested in this data.

NHS Resolution's Safety and Learning team has produced a thematic review: Clinical Negligence claims in England: Missed fractures, which may contain some of the information you are interested in. You can find it published on our website: Thematic Review 2: Missed Fractures \(resolution.nhs.uk\)

For details of the claims data that we publish, please refer to our Annual Report Statistics.

Further to our obligations to provide advice and assistance, you may find it helpful to review the work of the Getting It Right First Time team with whom NHS Resolution has been working with to undertake in-depth analysis of our claims data (on orthopaedic surgery claims). They have produced a number of reports from analysing our claims data which has been shared following approval of the confidentiality advisory group to the use of confidential patient information for this purpose.

If you would like to know how data is categorised in our Claims database please see the following link: Glossary

This concludes our response to your request.
